

„hausgemachte memes“

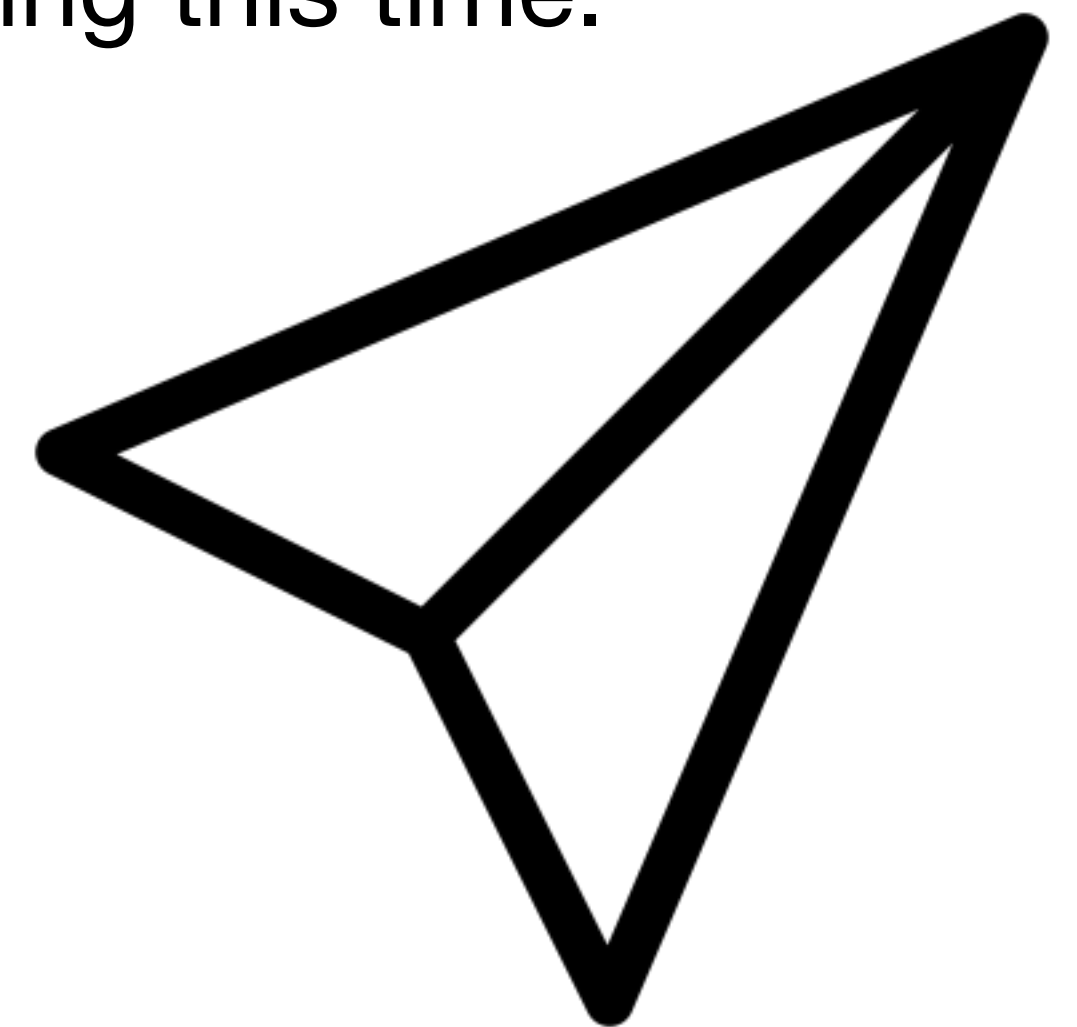

Emily Gross

what is perfect?

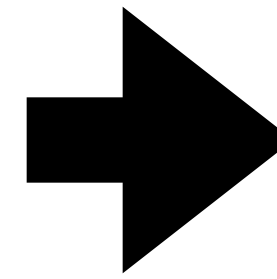

„A picture is perfect if you can relate to its message. Emotions and feelings play a major role in this. These can be influenced by various factors such as color, light, composition, perspective, method of production (camera/painting technique), etc. If these factors are successfully used to create a picture that should meet the viewer's understanding, we will be satisfied with the result. This can not only happen in a positive way, but also in a negative way. This means that not only the good feelings, but also the bad ones, can be successfully recreated by bringing them across authentically. It is important to find a good balance. The feelings and emotions must not be exaggerated or even conveyed in a ridiculous way. If this happens, we can quickly feel attacked or ridiculed on a personal level. In this case, we can no longer relate to the statement and the picture is no longer perfect.“ make it perfect!

Pictures that can reflect emotions and feelings pretty good are memes. They combine image and text to make a statement. Most of the time these pictures are not very aesthetic. They are badly photographed or screenshots from movies. Also the quality of the pictures has to suffer by constantly sending them back and forth. But sending them back and forth proves that people can relate to those memes. I recreated memes I found online while scrolling on instagram etc. with photos I have taken that fit my kind of aesthetic. This way I kept myself busy while doing nothing. It helped me stay inspired during this time.

Me everytime I'm getting ready to go out

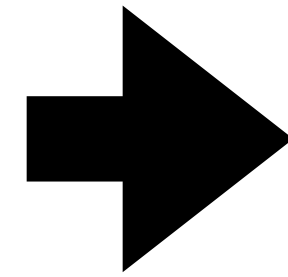

Me everytime I'm getting ready to go out

10 y/o me: I'm never gonna be those boring adults, always in a bad mood

Me today:

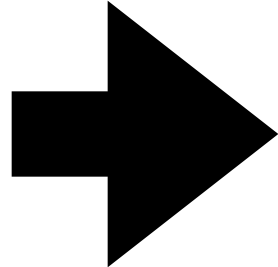

10 y/o me: I'm never gonna be those boring adults, always in a bad mood

Me today:

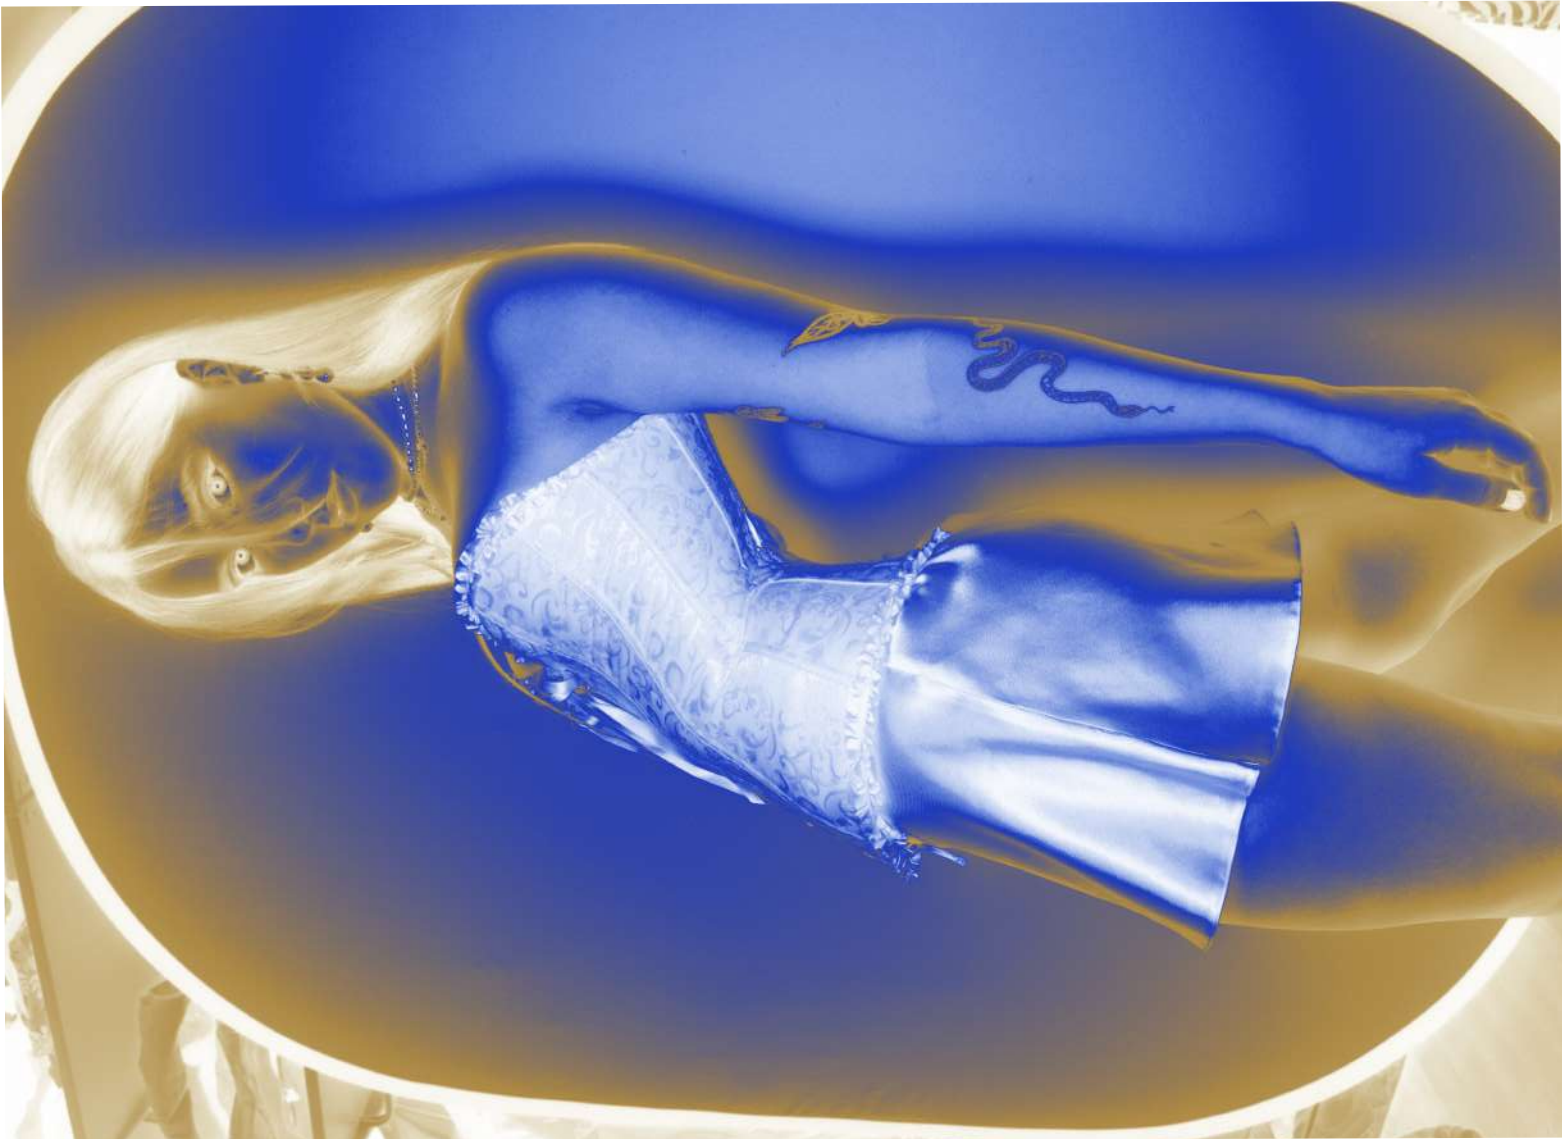

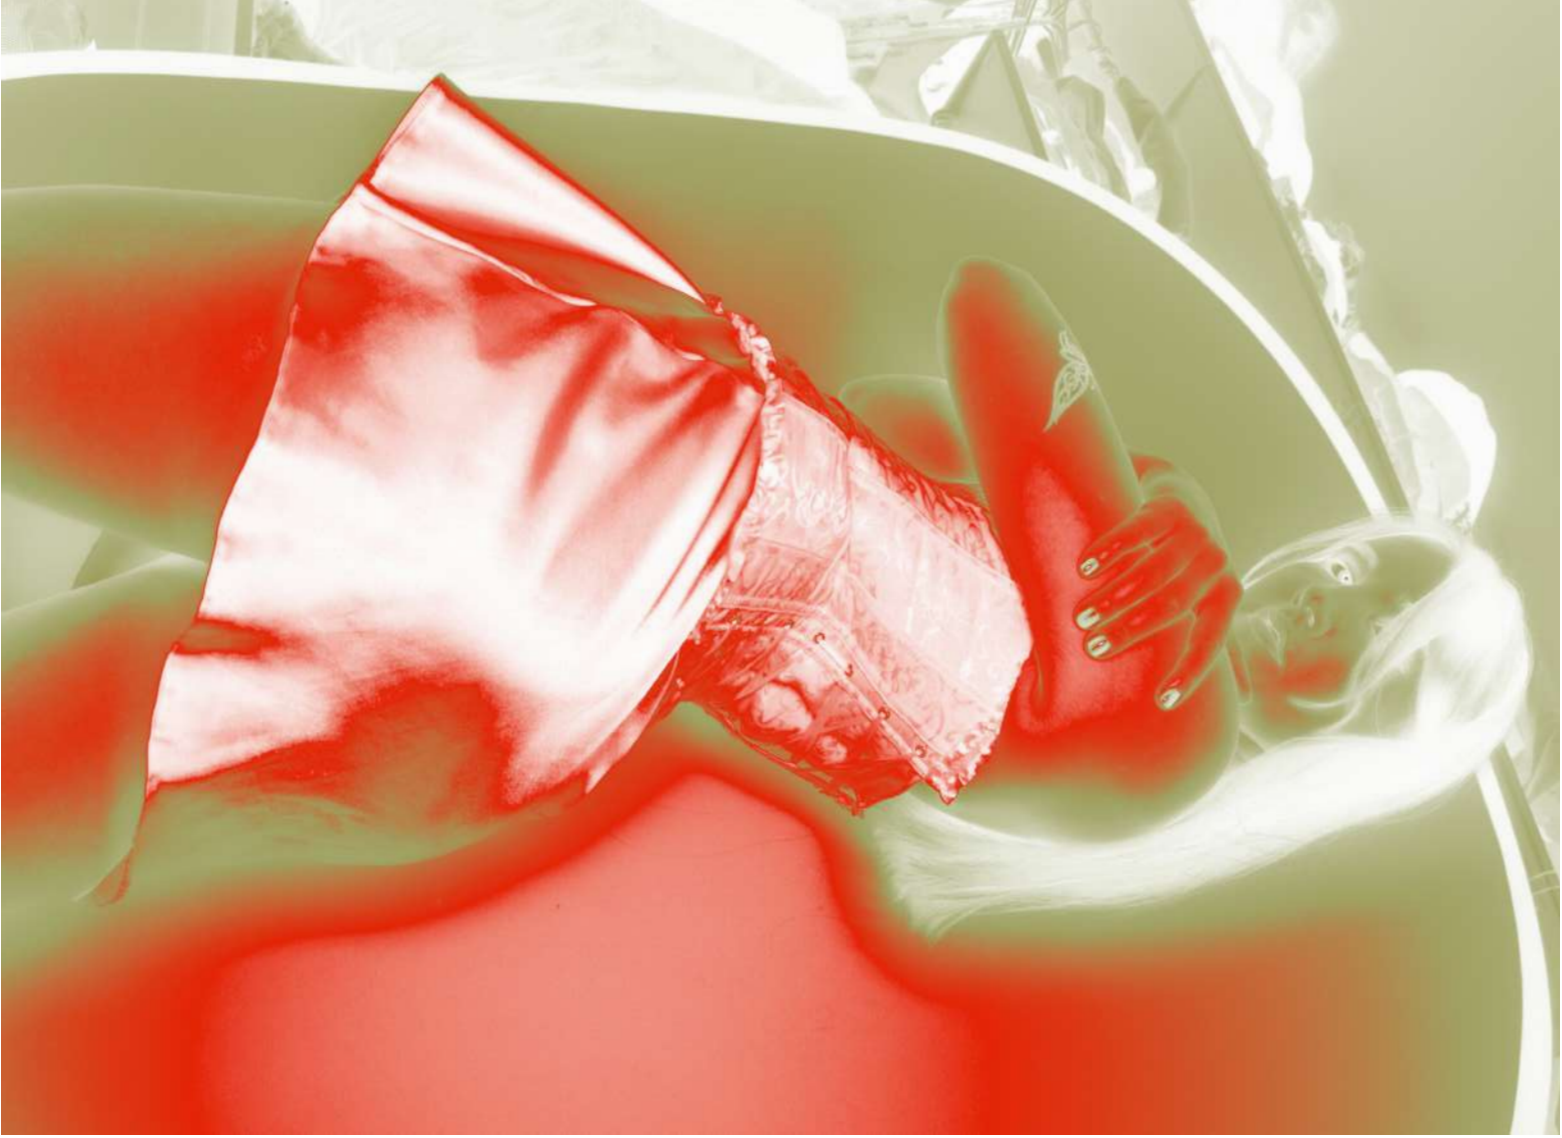

me: y does my back hurt
my posture everyday from 9-6:

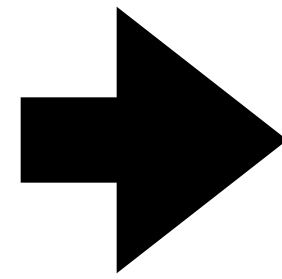

me: y does my back hurt
my posture everyday from 9-6:

When you're an evil bitch but your multiple personalities cheer you on and make you feel good about yourself

When you're an evil bitch but your multiple personalities cheer you on and make you feel good about yourself

